A close-up photograph of a butterfly, likely a Pieris, with white wings and dark markings, resting on a vibrant yellow background. The butterfly is positioned diagonally, with its head and thorax in the lower-left corner and its wings extending towards the upper-right. The wings are primarily white with distinct dark brown or black markings, including a large, irregular dark patch on the upper wing and a series of dark spots along the lower edge. The butterfly's body is dark and segmented. The background is a solid, bright yellow, providing a high-contrast backdrop for the white and dark colors of the butterfly.
